The wrong direction by Passenger

| When I was a kid the things I did                       | How much greener the (17) is                          |
|---|---|
| Were (1) under the grid                                 | With those rose tinted glasses                        |
| (2) and naive I never believed                          | But the butterflies they flutter by                   |
| That love could be so well hid                          | And leave us on our arses                             |
| With regret I'm willing to bet                          | Because I'd love to feel (18)                         |
| And say the older you get                               | But I can't stand the rejection                       |
| It gets harder to forgive and harder to forget          | I hide behind my (19)                                 |
| It gets (3) your shirt like a dagger at work            | As a form of protection                               |
| The first cut is the deepest                            | I thought I was close but under further inspection    |
| But the rest still (4) hurt                             | It (20) I've been running in the wrong direction      |
| You build your heart of plastic                         | There's fish in the sea for me to make a selection    |
| Get cynical and sarcastic                               | I'd jump in if it wasn't for my ear infection         |
| And end up in the corner on your own                    | Because all I want to do is try to make a connection  |
| Because I'd love to (5) love                            | It seems I've been running in the wrong               |
| But I can't stand the rejection                         | (21) oh   |
| I hide behind my jokes                                  | I'd love to feel love but I can't stand the rejection |
| As a (6) of protection                                  | I hide behind my jokes                                |
| I (7) I was close but under further                     | As a form of protection                               |
| inspection  | I thought I was close but under further inspection    |
| It seems I've been running in the wrong direction oh no | It seems I've been running in the wrong direction     |
| So what's the point in getting your hopes up?           | I'd love to feel love but I can't stand the rejection |
| When all you're ever getting                            | I hide behind my (22)                                 |
| Is choked up  | As a form of protection                               |
| When you're coked up                                    | And I thought I was close but (23) further            |
| And can't remember the reason why you (8) up            | inspection  |
| You call her in the morning                             | It seems I've been running in the wrong direction oh  |
| (9) you're coming down and falling                      | It seems like I'm running in the wrong direction oh   |
| Like an old man on the side of the road                 | Seems like I'm running in the wrong direction oh      |
| Because when you're apart you don't (10) to             | Well it seems I've (24) running in the                |
| mingle  | (25) oh no  |
| When you're together you (11) to be single              | Seems I've been running in the wrong direction        |
| Ever the (12) to (13) the kiss of                       |   |
| bliss   |   |
| That (14) (15) (16) tingle                              |   |
|   |   |
